ELMIRA TRANSITION RETRIEVAL DRILL

Time: Station:

This is a great defensive drill from Elmira College Assistant coach Mike Grace. Players can work on their speed to retrievals, deceptive toes and transition.

SETUP:

- This is a half ice drill. There should be a line of players beginning at the top of the circle as well as a coach with pucks.
- The two passing players should each line up on the hashmarks of each side and the player ready to do the drill can start at the bottom of the circle.

HOW THE DRILL WORKS:

- To start the drill, the coach will dump a puck into the corner. The player going will skate to the top of the circles, transition backwards and then back to forwards to retrieve the puck.
- The player will retrieve a total of three pucks, after each retrieval they will pass it to one of the passing players on each hashmark.
- They will escape towards the inside first and then towards the wall for the last two.

COACHING POINTS:

- The player should make sure that before every retrieval they are shoulder checking and using deception with their toes.
- In any drill that requires passing, the players should make sure they are keeping their eyes up and communicating.
